

Bringing The Fire & Insurance Communities Together Again

About AAIS

Founded in 1936, the American Association of Insurance Services (AAIS) is the only national not-for-profit advisory organization for the Property and Casualty (P&C) insurance market. AAIS provides model insurance forms, endorsements, ratings, and loss costs to help insurance companies ensure they have appropriate rates and remain legally compliant. Rating and evaluating fire protection is one of the defined roles of an insurance advisory organization.

The AAIS Difference

AAIS is a unique community of stakeholders from across the insurance ecosystem, coming together to build more cost-effective sustainable products and services.

All members of the AAIS Community realize the collective benefits of active participation in a safe, transparent, open, and collaborative environment.

Meaningful Evaluation

Centering Community Risk Reduction efforts and activities, FLAMES is a modern look at how effective a community is in reducing, not just responding to, risks.

Safe & Sustainable Communities

Helping community and public safety leaders quantify the benefits of their investment in risk mitigation by analyzing the effectiveness of local efforts.

Your Data. Your Score.

We are building a better, more dynamic, and more meaningful way to evaluate local communities. Your participation matters.
